

McCoy Place

bed & breakfast

the middle of the 79,000-acre Catoosa Wildlife Reserve, and is surrounded by 100-year-old towering oaks, lush flower gardens, and fruit orchards. It is the family homeplace of owner Annette Hendrixson. The inn features many private areas and porches on which to read, relax, or nap—a place of quiet solitude, yet only a short drive to many area attractions and restaurants. You will enjoy a full gourmet breakfast, refreshments in the afternoon, and turn-down service in the evenings. Open Thursday through Saturday, during April-October. Visit www.mccoyplace.com for a visual tour of the inn, or call 931-484-1243 for more information. Absolutely wonderful!

The best word we can find to describe this wonderful Crossville bed & breakfast is “idyllic.” McCoy Place, 525 Roy McCoy Rd., is nestled in

THE LUCKY STARR

Nestled in the breathtaking Sequatchie Valley in Pikeville at 5746 Upper E. Valley Rd., The Lucky Starr offers a rustic, cozy retreat in some of the most beautiful country imaginable. Choose between the larger two-story or the smaller cozy cabin—both have a fireplace, antique furnishings, and lots of charm! The cabins back right up to the scenic four-acre Echo Lake, so canoe or fish to your heart's content. Contact owners Starr and Parky at 423-533-2100 or visit www.Luckystarr.com.

